CHARITY BALL NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Westinghouse Mansion Will Be a Scene of Beauty.

OTHER PLEASANT TOPICS

The unusual features of the spring sea-

on which redeemed the general average of the year from the charge of dullness seem extraordinary, even for this era of wonderful happenings. A good many people are leaving town with the impression that the gayeties are about over, but nothing like a scatteration will occur till late in June. The charity ball at the Westinghouse mansion Monday night has aroused so much interest that no matter how often the date was changed it only increased the enthusiasm. There is no possible reason now, so say the managers, that any further change should be made, and consequently Monday night, socially considered, is pre-empted for this event. Mrs. Westinghouse will receive the guests, assisted by Mrs. Charles H. Davis, president of the hospital board, and other officers of the institution, including Mrs. Hoeke, Mrs. Shields, Mrs. Hammond and Miss Keats Rodgers. The floor managers will be Dr. Van Reypen, Col. Archibald Hopkins, Col. Goodloe, Dr. Jenkins, Mr. Edward McCauley, Commander Clover, Dr. Chatard, Mr. C. C. Glover, Capt. Davis, Col. Michler, Capt. Train, the Danish minister, Baron Reidl, Comte Beaudoinn de Leathwards Mr. Badares Mr. Huidekoner ister, Baron Reidl, Comte Beaudoiun de Lechterveide, Mr. Rodgers, Mr. Huidekoper, Mr. Austin, Mr. Clark, Mr. Hackett, Mr. Leech, Mr. John Webb, Dr. McClurg, Mr. Townsend, Mr. Frederick Evans, Mr. Marsh, Mr. Fred. Taylor, Mr. Merrick, Mr. McPherson, Mr. Howard and Mr. Westcott.

Mrs. J. Thomson Swann will remain in own a week or so longer and will then go to Princeton, where her lovely home awaits her. Next fall when she returns here she will take possession of her former residence on 15th street near I street, in which she has had extensive improvements and repairs made lately. The Anderson-Ward wedding Wednesday at noon was a notable event even for Washington. Considerable eclat attends the simplest affairs. There was none of the bustle and confusion which has been apparent at so many of the weddings this spring, although the church was comfortably crowded and there were few absentees from the set where the second leads the remaining the second leads the from the set whose presence lends the regulation distinction to such occasions. The ushers were particularly efficient. The bride's dress was by far the most elegant worn this season. The lace on it was beautiful and abundant, and the bride's height made its warring avendingly becoming made its wearing exceedingly becoming. While the day was not all smiles or sunshine, the toilets worn were light in color same, the tollers work were light in color and certainly as far as the younger women were concerned of the most delicate fabrics. Hats were gay enough to suggest the whole grouping in the front pews as one vast bouquet. The bridal bouquet is increasing in size, and is most frequently now of orchids and lilius, rather than roses. now of orchids and lilaes, rather than roses or orange blossoms. The deep pink of the bridesmaid's dress, with which her hat corresponded, was most effective. Miss Alice Ward is going abroad with her grand-mother, Mrs. John Ward, early next month, and will make her debut here next winter. Mr. Jose Romero, nephew of the late Mexican Ambassador Romero, has been Mexican Ambassador Romero, has been appointed a member of the embassy staff here, and will be in Washington by the 15th of June. Mr. Romero is well known here, where he spent bis boyhood days. He has recently been admitted to the bar in the City of Mexico, and passed a rigid examination with great success.

Miss Helen Martin, daughter of Henry Fownsend Martin of Albany, and Edward Murphy, second, whose marriage is to occur at the home of the bride, State street, Albany, Wednesday, June 7, have decided o spend the summer in Europe. They will sail soon after their marriage.

The managers of the McAll Mission will ive a tea for that charity at the residence of Mrs. Charles E. Foster, Tuesday, May 23, at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Thackara, who has been visiting Mrs. Reyburn the past week or so, divides her time between this city and Annapolis, where her son is undergoing the examina-tions to enter the Naval Academy. THE JUBILEE CONCERT.

A Great Orchestral and Choral Program at Convention Hall.

While there are to be many pleasant feaures connected with the peace jubilee here will be none that will give more pleas ure than the concert to be given on next Friday evening at Convention Hall. The music committee of the peace jubilee has labored hard in behalf of this concert and has selected with care two of the ablest directors in the city, Mr. Herman Rake-mann and Mr. William Waldecker. Mr. Rakemann, who is to direct the orchestra, is well known among music lovers in this city, both as a violinist and as a director, and for this occasion he has been given carte blanche in selecting his men for the orchestra of sixty musicians. The chorus, under the direction of Mr. William Waldecker, promises to be a surprise; it will number 300 voices, and, as the committee has had the assistance of all the prominent vocal teachers and choir directors in the city, the result is that it has gathered in all of the crack singers in this city. Mr. Waldecker himself states that he has never had the pleasure of conducting such a fine chorus. The program, which will be anchorus. The program, which will be an-nounced later, will consist of instrumental numbers and also choral numbers, with orchestral accompaniment.

As an added feature the magnificent decorations are to remain in the hall from the revelries that take place the night before, and the public will not only hear one of the and the public will not only hear one of the most enjoyable concerts ever given in this city by local musicians, but will also have the pleasure of viewing the beautiful decorations. The price of admission has been made a popular one, 50 cents to all parts of the hall, and the tickets are now on sale at Sanders & Stayman's music store, and also by members of the chorus and others. also by members of the chorus and others.
